Prof. Carlos Daganzo will give a lecture at the Delft University of Technology. Carlos Daganzo is a world famous professor from the University of Berkeley, California. He has worked on various topics related to logistics and transportation. Many of his papers have had a large and long lasting impact on the research field. 15 July he will give a two hour lecture on variational theory in traffic flow. Apart from an excellent scientist, Daganzo also is a very good lecturer, focusing on the understanding of the concepts with his audience. He will - using an old-fashioned blackboard - explain the use of variational theory, the techniques and some of his new insights.

If you want to join this once in a career opportunity, please register (for free)!

specific procedures of EU. Paragon participates in such projects both as partner and as coordinator in the consortia submitting proposals. For example, it have led an FP7-ICT project which closed in February 2012. Apart from this, it is also participating in other ongoing projects LLP, IEE, and ICT PSP under these programs. Paragon Europe is looking for partners preparing projects in the area of transport, and it is interested in discussing collaboration and possible partnership in consortia.
